Power of an Inch of Rain.
"Fine shower we had last night," said a talkative man.
"Yes," answered the thoughtful man "How much rain fell?"
"The weather report says just an inch."

"Do you know what that means?" asked the other as he took a pencil from his pocket and began to figure.
"It means clearing the air, laying the dust and furnishing needed moisture for vegetation and for us, I suppose."

"But have you ever thought what it means in power?" continued the thoughtful man. "You said an inch of rain. Now, see these figures. New York city contains 308 square miles of surface, and one inch of water over that, which measure 715,455,000 cubic feet, which at 63 pounds—which is the weight of a cubic foot of water—makes 45,079,372,600 pounds, or 22,539,680 tons. Can you realize it?"

"Now, what comes down has gone up, and this water fell about 5,000 feet. Old Sol had quite a pull to get that moisture up there, for a mechanical engineer will tell you that that represents the expenditure of nearly 2,500,000,000,000 foot pounds of energy. It's said that we can't lift machinery to that power without having to take it secondhand through coal."—New York Herald.

A Wee Drop.
Sandy—And will ye tak' a drap o' whisky afore ye gang home, Tammas?
Tammas—Ah, weel, just a wee drap.
Sandy—Then say when, laddie.
Tammas—Nay, mon; the glass will say when.—London King.

A Thoughtful.
She—Is it true that when you proposed to me you didn't know whether I was worth a penny?
He—Absolutely. But I always was willing to take chances.—Detroit Free Press.

Rules of grammar cannot give us a mastery of language, rules of rhetoric cannot make us eloquent, rules of conduct cannot make us good.—Aphorisms and Reflections.

Getting Thin
is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already. Fat, enough for your health, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: overwork and under-digestion. Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

FOLLIES OF FASHION

SARTORIAL VAGARIES OF THE CENTURIES THAT ARE GONE.
Grotesque Styles That Reigned in the Time of Chaucer—Raiment That Rivalled the Rainbow and Men Who Stretched Their Beards.

It is a little gratifying to reflect that, however the man of today may compare with his ancestors of bygone century in physique and morals, his dress is much more moderate and inexpensive, even if it is less picturesque, than theirs.

It is true that here and there one may find some foolish young man whose taste in dress is as extravagant as that of any "buck" of the days of the Georges. There is, for instance, a son of a well known peer who has the reputation of never wearing a suit twice. He has a wardrobe of waistcoats of all the colors of the rainbow, ranging from a light blue spangled with silver stars to a deep green satin with buttons of eighteen carat gold, each of which is adorned with the painted face of a beautiful woman.

Another wealthy aristocrat is credited with having as many suits and uniforms as there are days in the year and with spending on his tailor's bill a sum which would pay the yearly salary of a minor cabinet minister.

But such men are modestly arrayed compared with the dandies of many a past century. The earl of Northumberland who lived in the latter part of the fourteenth century boasted no fewer than sixty suits of cloth of gold alone, and the bishop of Ely of that time had a change of raiment for every day of the year.

Much later, in Queen Mary's time, the wardrobe of a bishop might have been the envy of Solomon for the variety and costliness of its contents, and even a simple village priest, according to Fuller, wore "a vestment of crimson satin, a vestment of crimson velvet, a stole and fannon set with pearls, gowns faced with taffetas, etc."

In the days of Chaucer fashionable men wore clothes as many colored as Joseph's coat, so that "while one leg would be a blaze of crimson the other would be tricked out in green or blue or yellow, without any regard to harmony or contrast."

Even as late as the middle of the eighteenth century a dandy would deck himself in "a vivid green coat, a waistcoat of scarlet, yellow breeches and blue stockings," and the gentleman of a few years later wore, among similar sartorial vagaries, "a coat of light green, with sleeves too small for the arms and buttons too big for the sleeves; a pair of Manchester fine stuff breeches, without money in their pockets; clouded silk stockings, a club of hair behind larger than the head that carries it, a hat of the size of a sixpence on a block not worth a farthing."

At one fashionable epoch our ancestors, to quote the words of a quaint chronicler, "would wear clothes so tight to ye skin that it might well be grieved they wore no clothes at all," and at another they would wear them "so voluminous that a single suite might well have afforded raiment for a whole family, and so stuffed out with feathers that, of a verity, their wearers resembled nothing so much as walking sacks."

At another period it was the grotesque fashion to combine on one person the dress of all the countries of Europe—the hat would be Spanish, the coat French, the trousers Turkish, and so on—so that the wearer was a walking epitome of the dress of a continent.

At one time shoes would be worn with square toes of such width that a royal proclamation was issued limiting the width to six inches, and these shoes were succeeded by others which came to the finest of points at the toes.

In Henry II.'s time shoes with points two feet long were worn by the fashionables, and in the reign of Henry IV. these points grew to such an enormous length that in order to be able to walk at all it was necessary to attach the tips to the knees by chains, which were of gold or silver, while the tops of the shoes were carved with all kinds of fantastic designs.

In the early part of the eighteenth century it was a common thing for a man of fashion to spend several hours a day with his valet, among the many quaint operations being "the starching of the beard and the proper perfuming of garments, the painting of the face and anointing with oils, fignettes, quintessences and pomatums." It is even said that some of the dandies of the time bathed in wine and milk "for the preservation of their complexions and the rejuvenation of their energies."—London Tit-Bits.

Works Like a Charm.
Hanson—Wonder how it is that the Jugginses get along so harmoniously. They never have any quarrels, apparently.
Burt—The reason is simple enough. Juggins always lets Mrs. J. have the last word and she never tries to prevent him from having his own way.—Boston Transcript.

According to Scale.
Mrs. Wunder—It seems to me that that music teacher is always asking for favors.
Mr. Wunder—That's perfectly natural. His scale, you know, begins and ends with "dough."—Baltimore American.

Two Views.
"It is hard to lose one's relations," said the seedy individual with a mourning band on his hat.
"Hard?" echoed the man whose check is good for a million. "Why, sir, it's simply impossible."—Chicago News.

You Know What You Are Taking
When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Children Especially Liable.
Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soothes the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "DeWitt's" Witch Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James McKinnon, Jr., Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she could not walk. I used five dresses a day." Kerr's Pharmacy, Jackson.

Costly Plate.
Some London Companies Have Old and Interesting Services.
Few people, at least in this country, possess plate worth such a fabulous sum as that owned by London's lord mayor during his term of office. Its face value has been computed to be slightly over £20,000, though three times that amount would not buy it owing to the historical interest attached to many of the articles.

The two solid silver soup tureens which are employed at the banquet to distribute 100 gallons of clear turtle to the guests are valued at £500 apiece and are said to have been in possession of the corporation for over a century.

Moreover, there are a gross of silver dinner plates worth £1,500, 200 ice pails valued at nearly £1,000, 200 cut glass dishes, the cost of which £2,000 would not cover; 80 solid silver meat dishes worth another £2,000, and hundreds of other articles, such as grape scissors, salt cellars, wine cups, waiters' trays, decanter labels, etc., all of solid gold or silver and valued at over £5,000.

This collection of plate is constantly being increased, for every lord mayor at the expiration of his term of office is expected to add an item, the cost of which must not be lower than 100 guineas.

The Bear Was at Home.
A woman traveling abroad narrates the following experience: She had occasion to go to the British embassy at a certain spot, which shall be nameless, to see the ambassador, who, however, proved to be away with his wife at a neighboring health resort. The visitor asked for the first secretary, who, unfortunately, was on leave in England. The woman said that the second secretary would do as well, but he happened to be in attendance upon his wife, who was in a hospital.

Was the third secretary there? No. He was on leave too. The bottle washer might be in, perchance? No. He was shooting in England. The second bottle washer? He, unfortunately, was an invalid and rarely came to the embassy. The military attaché? He was on leave. The archivist? He was fishing in Scotland.

The visitor had heard of two junior secretaries, whose custom it was to transact their duties in company with a pet bear. Did they happen to be in? Unfortunately, they were away playing polo. And the bear? Yes, the bear was at home. The visitor, however, did not feel equal to interviewing the bear single handed and left.—London Truth.

Make No Pretenses.
Be natural. If you are not what you would like to seem, endeavor to come as nearly to your ideals as you can, but do not affect a manner or character that is not your own, that is not sincere. Affectation betrays weakness of character. It deceives no one. One may imagine he is making a great impression. People are too polite to let him know their thoughts, but they see through him. He makes himself less in their estimation. It is of no use to assume to know that of which one is ignorant.

There is a certain strength in honesty that carries weight and influence. Integrity will make itself felt. By making no pretenses one is on the right road to advance. There is no fool like the one who thinks he knows it all, or, worse, thinks he can make others think so. Pretenses are despised by all sensible persons. Be true, be genuine, and you retain your self respect and gain that of others.—Milwaukee Journal.

Her Age.
Judge—How old are you, madam?
Witness (hesitatingly)—I am—that is, I—

Two of a Kind.
Guest—What a splendid dinner! I don't often get as good a meal as this.
Little Willie (son of the host)—We don't either.

Promptly Given.
He—My train goes in fifteen minutes.
Can you not give me one ray of hope before I leave you forever?
She—Er—that clock is half an hour fast.—Brooklyn Life.

To make good tea and coffee the water should be taken at the first bubble. Remember continued boiling causes the water to part with its gases and become flat. This is the cause of much bad tea and coffee.—Ladies' Home Journal.

When Time Hangs Heavily.

Time is never wasted until it "hangs heavily on our hands," when you are neither working nor enjoying yourself. There may be times when it suits one's mood to "loaf and invite one's soul," but they are rare nowadays. If you don't believe it, consider how the average citizen spends his vacation. Most people work harder and economize their vacation time more grudgingly in getting the most out of it than they do in any other part of the year. They hate to lose a minute of enjoyment.

Of course there are times—every day—when time seems absolutely wasted, and these are the times when men's tempers are on edge and things go crosswise. Chief among this list of wasted and monotonous intervals is the time spent in waiting for a car, in traveling on it after you get it, in waiting for meals, in funding over dilatory appointments or by reaching there too soon. Other instances are where the bare buttonholes you and insists with excessive eloquence in stringing a three line item into a two column tale.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Huge Spiders Wove Them.
Every one who owns a little strip of garden knows what it is to clear away spider webs, a matter of small difficulty and lightly performed, but a popular naturalist who lately returned from the great woods of Central America came across spiders' webs of such strength and huge dimensions that they were positive obstacles in his path. Needless to say, the tenants of these webs were of a monstrous size.

"I measured one of these fabrics," he says. "It had a diameter of more than six feet, without including the long brace threads that run out like forays to the extremity of the surrounding branches. I then took a number of wild lemons and flung them against the center with all my might. The web stopped every one. It is no wonder that when a bird comes entangled in the meshes the huge spider is able to make a breakfast off him."

A New English Author.
The traveler who happens to be weather bound at Perugia may find some amusement in the library of one of the leading hotels. Among the contents of the shelves there is a considerable sprinkling of English books; but to the visitor's surprise, a large proportion of these are by a mysterious author, "Bart," of whose name he is probably ignorant. But when he finds that Bart has written "Ivanhoe" and "The Last Days of Pompeii" the key to the mystery is discovered. The humal binder has taken the author's title card, his name, and Sir Walter Scott and Sir Edward Bulwer-Lytton are credited with but one personality between them.

Conscience Money.
"Conscience money" in Great Britain now amounts to thousands of pounds annually. The first sum noticed was on March 30, 1789, when £360 was carried to the public account in consequence of a note received by the chancellor. The writer with troubled soul implored him, "as an honest man, to consider the money the property of the nation and to be so just as to apply it to the use of the state in such a manner that the nation may not suffer by its having been detained and thus to ease the conscience of an honest man."

Wanted to Repeat.
"Lady," said Maudering Mike, "have you any coffee or mince pie or—"
"I haven't your been here twice before?"
"Lady, I have. I'm too good a judge of cookin' to let such performances as yours go without an encore."—Washington Star.

Why Bixby Doesn't Go.
"Bixby going to the minister ten reasons for not going to church, but he left out the main one."
"What is that?"
"He stays away because his wife doesn't make him go."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A New Definition.
Ostend—Paw, what is an underwriter?
Father—A woman, I guess; at least she is the one who always adds a postscript.—Chicago News.

If a man is shaped all right and his limbs are as flexible as they should be, he is able to scratch his own back or reach any part of his anatomy. Can you do it?—Acheson Globe.

TEARFUL OR CHEERFUL?
Whether a woman is tearful or cheerful depends not on what she has materially, but what she is physically. Many an indulgent husband is driven almost to despair by the tearful outburst of a wife who has "every thing she wants." He wants to know what's the matter, but the wife can't tell. She only knows that she is depressed and despondent.

Such a condition is usually related to some form of womanly disease. The mental depression has its corresponding womanly weakness. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription changes tearful women to cheerful women by curing the diseases which cause physical weakness and depression of spirits. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Mrs. Alice Adams, of Laboratory, Washington, D. C., writes: "I write to let you know how I am. I can say by God's help and your help I am well. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I can say all my work. I can't praise your medicine too highly. It will recommend your medicine as long as I live. If any one doubts this give them my address."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Keep the bowels healthy by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Fire Company Meeting.

A special meeting of the Jackson Fire Company was held in the supervisor's room on Monday evening, to make arrangements for the annual ball for the benefit of the company. The attendance was larger than usual at such gatherings. It was decided to have the ball on the 7th of February instead of the 11th, as announced last week. The reason for the change is that the latter date was the eve of the lenten season, and it was thought that this might interfere somewhat with the success of the ball. The following named gentlemen were appointed an executive committee, with full power to arrange for the ball: Dr. A. M. Gall (chairman); B. F. Taylor, R. I. Kerr, A. B. Caminetti, F. Burgin, B. Parker, M. E. Muldoon, R. L. Mann, G. D. Calvin, and C. W. Freeman.

Failed to Obey the Court.

Julia Oneto was cited to appear before the superior court last Wednesday to show cause why she had failed to obey the order of the court that the six year old son, confined to her custody, spend two days of each month with the father at the Oneto ranch, five miles from Jackson. Mrs. Oneto obtained a divorce from Bartolomeo Oneto some time ago. The decree allowed $30 per month for the support of the minor child, and that the father should enjoy the child's company two days each month. Mrs. Oneto lives in Irontown, and the father resides near Irontown. The child has manifested an unwillingness to leave his mother, and hence the father's action in court to enforce the provisions of the decree. The court ordered that the child be taken to the Oneto ranch next Saturday, and be returned to his mother on Monday; this course to be followed once every month. Also that the $30 per month for maintenance be left at Ginocchio Bros. store for Mrs. Oneto.

BURGLARY AT SLABTOWN.

The Perpetrator Arrested at Clements.

The residence of J. I. Pool near Slabtown, was burglarized and robbed the middle of last week. Pool is a barber. After the Stone Company got through with their work he moved his business place from the Tabeaud reservoir to near Slabtown, and employed his time between cutting wood and his tonsorial profession. A man named George Walder was also employed in cutting wood in that vicinity. On the day of the burglary, Walder assisted Pool in loading his wagon with wood, and the latter came to Jackson to dispose of it. When Pool got home from his trip he found his home looted. It seems that Walder, as soon as Pool got out of sight, burglarized the dwelling and took therefrom Pool's best suit of clothes, an extra vest, 18 razors, a shotgun, a brass watch, a pocket knife, and a dozen cans of sardines. He appeared at Morris' cabin, not far from the scene of his adventure, wearing the extra vest, and partook of liquid refreshments. He next struck P. Ferrari's residence, and after leaving there, donned the stolen suit, and set out on foot toward the valley. Constable Kay notified sheriff Sibley of Stockton that the culprit was heading toward that city, who immediately telephoned a description of the man to Clements, and was told that the wanted individual had just left that village. At the request of the sheriff, G. W. Rainey arrested Walder, and held him until the sheriff arrived, and took him to Stockton. Constable Kay went to Stockton Saturday and brought the prisoner to Jackson the same evening. All the stolen articles were recovered, except the sardines, which the accused had eaten. Walder admits breaking into the house and taking the property.

Heavy Damage Suit.

Thomas Scoble has commenced suit against the Oneto G. M. & M. Co., to recover the sum of $10,500 damages, for injuries sustained by him while employed in the Oneto mine. The complaint alleges that prior to the 9th day of April, 1901, plaintiff was employed as a miner in the north stope of the 1900 foot level of said mine. On that day a section of the hanging wall, about 3000 lbs., fell upon him, inflicting serious internal and external injuries, to wit: a fracture of the fifth or last lumbar vertebra, causing partial paralysis of the lower limbs, and also partial paralysis of the intestines and bladder. He was confined to his bed for many months as the result of his injuries, and is now able to move about only in an invalid's chair, and is still unable to walk or stand, and will always remain a helpless cripple; that he will never again be able to resume his business of mining, or do any manual labor whatever. The complaint further says that the defendant corporation, its superintendent, Chas. Derby, and foreman, Jos. Isola, were guilty of gross carelessness in not properly timbering the underground workings of said mine; that prior to the cave above referred to, plaintiff requested that the hanging wall be properly timbered, but those in charge refused to have the same timbered; that the cave would not have occurred if the timbering had been done. Plaintiff has been compelled by reason of his injuries, to employ surgeons, a nurse, etc., at a cost of $500, and is now informed that it will be necessary for him to undergo an operation that will entail a cost of $1000. He therefore, asks judgment for the above amount, and costs. W. J. McGee is plaintiff's attorney.

A Pioneer Departed.

Reuben B. Ball was born near Elkhart, Elkhart county, Indiana, on the 5th day of May, 1832, and died at his home near Latrobe, in Amador county, on the 13th of January, 1902, aged 69 years, 8 months and 1 day. When a young man he left his home in Indiana and came to California in or about the year '51 or '52. Here he remained for about ten years. He then returned to his home in Indiana, where he was united in marriage to Miss Katharina Gabel, with whom he lived happily for 13 years. After remaining there two years he, with his wife and folks, left that state and came to California. Here Reuben took up a farm on the Cosumnes river, near Latrobe, which soon proved, by the hard toiling of both he and his wife, to be their happy little home as long as their dear lives survived. Reuben was the beloved father of eight children, Oliver, Calvin, Sherman, Walter, Melvina and Emma Ball, Dora Painter and Helen Estey. During the last few hours of his illness, he lost his mental faculties, and passed away like one falling asleep.

He has taken to the lecture field, and has given some highly interesting lectures on the science of astronomy, with photographic views of celestial scenery. Seriously Ill at Woodbridge.

A letter was received by C. M. Meek Monday that Mrs. Pernina Smith, formerly Mrs. Heming, was lying very sick at her home in Woodbridge, requesting that one of the Courtwright's be sent to nurse her. Mrs. Clark Courtwright started the same evening and got to Buena Vista that night, driving the next day to Woodbridge. Mrs. Smith has been seriously ill for a long time. She is now confined to her bed. Mr. Smith, to whom she was married about six months back, died a few days ago.

THE PRODUCERS OF GOLD

Progress In Amador County Mining.

To Crosscut at the Kirkwood—The Del Monte Buys Some Machinery. Amador-Phoenix Clean-up.

KIRKWOOD.—A meeting of the Kirkwood Company was held in Jackson the first of the week. The indebtedness of nearly $800 was wiped out by voluntary contributions on the part of those present. It was decided to crosscut for the ledge at once, from the present depth of the shaft—about 715 feet. They will run east first, as the preponderating opinion is that the ledge lies in that direction. It is also the intention to go west, as the surface indications point to another ledge in that direction. Everything was harmonious at the meeting, and there was no feeling of discouragement manifested. A good deal of further prospecting will be done before they entertain the least idea of abandoning operations. Those interested in the Peerless—the adjoining property on the north—are watching the developments of the Kirkwood, as upon the result will depend the resumption of work upon that property.

DEL MONTE.—The directors of the Del Monte group of mines in Calaveras county, at their meeting held January 3, adopted resolutions authorizing the superintendent to buy and install at once a compressor and outfit for the operating of power drills upon their new crosscut tunnel. The superintendent immediately thereafter closed with Jas. E. Dye of Jackson, for the purchase of his Rix and Firth single cylinder compressor, situated on the Amador Gold mine near Jackson. In addition to this, he purchased the re-colyer, cut-off and valves used in connection therewith, 3000 feet of 3-inch compressed air pipe, and a quantity of drill steel with sharpening tools. The work of removing these to the mine has already begun, under the supervision of the superintendent and his expert assistant, Cornelius O'Neill Jr. The force of men at the mine has been increased, and all are now actively engaged in preparing for the installation of the new plant. Grading for roadways and for foundation work has already begun, and plans and estimates have been prepared under the direction of Messrs. Garbarini of Jackson. The compressor will first be removed to Sutter Creek for necessary foundry work, after which it will be in all respects equal to a new machine. The estimated cost of the installation of this outfit is $2500, gross; a figure below the net cost of a new outfit. The entire financial outlook of the company is brighter than at any time since the incorporation. Only a few thousand shares now remain unsold, and most of these have already been spoken for, so that we can positively assert that no more stock will be upon the market after March first. They have money in the treasury and forthcoming from monthly payments to prosecute the work with full force, and intend to make Del Monte mine one of the best little communities in the mining belt. Work is still being carried on in the east drift, in which indications still show large values ahead; as also upon the old shaft over the west drift, in which the ledge has been uncovered two feet in width at a depth of 40 feet, with good prospect showing. Rail Road Flat mining district has developed quite a boom within the last few months, several mines having been started with good financial backing, so essential to success; and work in most of them is being prosecuted upon excellent prospects. The Jones mine and the Little Giant, both near neighbors to Del Monte, have been working upon valuable ore deposits, and others are meeting equally encouraging bodies of rock.

AMADOR-PHOENIX.—A clean-up was made at this mill last week. Mixed rock from the dump was run through, and it was not expected that it would prove of paying value. We have not learned how much it yielded per ton. The mill is now idle, but will be started again shortly, on ore from the level now being opened as soon as fuel can be procured.

ARGONAUT.—The shaft of this mine has reached a depth of 2020 feet, and sinking still continues in the hardest kind of greenstone.

Burned With Gas.

Albert Lagomarsino, the young man who runs the car at the Kennedy mine, met with a painful experience last Friday. He was attending to the heating of some coal tar for tarring the cables. It was at night time, and he went to add more fuel, taking an open lantern to throw light upon the work. Tar when heated generates an inflammable gas. As soon as the light met this gas an explosion occurred, the jet of flame catching him full in the face. His injuries compelled him to quit work, and on reaching his home on Stump street, Jackson, Dr. L. E. Phillips was called, and dressed his injuries. The burns are not deep, but they were serious enough to cause the skin to peel off. He is getting along nicely, and no permanent marks will result from the mishap. He is still unable to resume his employment, but expects to do so in a few days.

Picardo-Oneto Wedding.

The Catholic church of Jackson was crowded last Sunday with those anxious to witness the ceremony that was to unite in life companionship Louis Picardo and Miss Theresa Oneto. The marriage was solemnized at noon, immediately after the regular morning services, the Rev. J. J. Gleason officiating. The bride, richly attired in white, was attended by Miss Etta Ginocchio as bridesmaid, who was prettily and becomingly dressed in blue. Lawrence Oneto, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, the newly married couple and invited guests repaired to the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Picardo, on the Jackson Gate road, and partook of the wedding banquet. It was a feast to be remembered, gotten up without regard to expense, and in the best style of the culinary art. An hour or two was passed in joviality and congratulations. Shortly after 4 the happy pair departed for Ione, and remained there that night. The following morning they took the train for San Francisco, on a honeymoon trip. They will return in about a week, and will thereafter make their home at the Picardo residence.

The bride is a daughter of Stephen Oneto, the gardener, who lives close to the Middle Fork schoolhouse, five miles from Jackson, who also has large real estate interests in Jackson. She is a bright, accomplished, and attractive young lady, and a favorite with a large circle of acquaintances. The groom is the eldest son of A. Picardo, the well-known merchant and owner of freight teams plying between Ione and Jackson. The Ledger joins with their host of friends in wishing the wedded couple a long and happy matrimonial life.

Suit to Quiet Title.

Jacob Vandamand has commenced an action against the South Eureka Mining Company to quiet title to the use for agricultural purposes of the surface of certain mining ground owned by the defendant corporation. In 1889 plaintiff and wife, Julia Vandamand, entered into an agreement with J. L. Mayon for the sale of the lands now owned by the said company, and made a deed conveying said property to said Mayon, and escrowed the deed with Jackson Dennis in Sutter Creek. The agreement provided that J. L. Mayon was desirous of acquiring said property for mining purposes only, and reserved the use of all surface not required for mining operations, for agricultural and grazing purposes. Said Mayon thereafter transferred his rights under the agreement to the South Eureka Company, who afterward paid to plaintiff and wife the full purchase price of $30,000. The company now contends that plaintiff, to whom has been assigned all the rights of Julia Vandamand, has merely a life interest in the use of the surface ground, and that this claim has cast a cloud over the title of plaintiff. He therefore prays that he be adjudged to have a valid title, and that upon his death his title therein will vest in his heirs and legatees. W. J. McGee represents the plaintiff's side of the case.

Again In Harness.

H. M. Calkins, who was connected with the Amador Record and also with the Ledger of this county, but who went east a couple of years ago, has again donned the newspaper harness. He writes us that he has bought a controlling interest in the Massillon Daily Times and Weekly Gleaner, of Massillon, Ohio, and assumed the management the first of the year. He is a hustler, and will give the easterners a sample of California rustling. We have received copies of his paper. They have telegraphic service and Mergenthaler machines, and present a newsy and business like appearance. We wish him success in his distant field of labor.

An Efficient Teacher Goes to the City.

Miss Wanda Reichling, who has been in the public school of Jackson for several years, resigned her position last week, and left for San Francisco Tuesday morning, to accept a place in the school department of that city. During the vacation Miss Reichling was in San Francisco, and successfully passed the examination of applicants. Out of 140 before the board of examiners, only 12 passed the ordeal, and Miss Reichling stood well toward the head of the list of successful ones. She will be employed on the substitute list at first, but will soon secure a place on the regular staff of teachers. In the departure of Miss Reichling, Amador county loses one of its most efficient teachers. She has always retained the confidence and esteem of the pupils of her class, and has displayed an aptitude for imparting instruction that cannot fail to secure recognition at the hands of the educational board. Jackson regrets to lose one so signally fitted for her chosen work, and at the same time congratulates her upon the wider and more important sphere of usefulness upon which she has entered.

Resigns His Position.

Edward H. Schmitz has resigned his position as lineman and repairer of the Sunset Telephone Company in this county. He has been connected with the electric and telephone business in this county for the past twelve years, and has proved an expert in his line, as well as a reliable manager. He has several lucrative positions offered him, but has not yet decided which he will accept. A. C. Shear of Chico, succeeds to the place surrendered by Mr. Schmitz. He was over the lines this week in company with his predecessor, to become acquainted with his new sphere of labor. He is an experienced lineman and electrician.

Large Fortune Left by D. T. Davies.

A press dispatch from Tacoma says: An estate valued at between $250,000 and $300,000 was left by D. T. Davies, the coal expert of the Southern Pacific, who died two weeks ago at Carbonado, and who was well known throughout Amador county. Though one of the most prominent coal experts in the northwest, Captain Davies did not invest his money in coal mines, but instead invested it largely in city property. He was a large owner of Tacoma inside property, which gave him a good income. His salary was $25,000 per year. The will was admitted to probate to-day, having been executed last April.

Seven children survive him and are made equal beneficiaries. For some reason Walter Davies, one son, was not originally given an equal share. On his death bed Captain Davies called his children together and added a codicil to the will, at the same time asking that they do not neglect Walter, but treat him the same as the others, share and share alike. One daughter is studying music in Berlin.
